CO-OPERATE WITH THE GOVERNMENT

In Carrying on the Essential Businesses of Canada.

Canada's export business must be maintained or there will be a sudden end put to our prosperity. The value of Canada's field crops this year—at present market prices—is well over the billion dollar mark, a fifth more than last year.

The value of the dairy products of Canada, at the present rate of production, is over $200,000,000—present market prices. This figure includes the butter and cheese manufactured by the 3,600 cheese factories and creameries throughout the dominion, the dairy butter and cream, milk and ice cream consumed in the unmade state.

The value of the meat products at present market prices, mark you—is over $125,000,000. In meat products are included hogs, cattle, sheep, pigs and poultry and eggs.

The total product of the farm for 1917 is, therefore, worth more than $1,300,000,000—at present market prices. You will notice we have repeated the phrase "at present market prices" several times. We have done that purposely to emphasize the fact that if the export market is cut off the value of all our surplus foodstuffs will be cut off, too, and our wheat and oats, our butter and cheese, our beef and bacon will not sell at any price.

There is only one buyer in the market today for our surplus products—and his name is John Bull, address, London, England. He is in the market for every grain and every pound we have to sell, but he says "You owe me a good big account now. I have lent you about two billion dollars to help you build your railways, open up your mines, develop your prairie lands and now I am paying your war expenses for the maintenance of your armies in England, France and Flanders. Send over your foodstuffs and munitions and other war materials and I will credit your account with the full value of the same." In other words, it is up to Canada, in these days of war time profits to begin to pay her debts.

Now, Canada is right up against the proposition that John Bull will buy our goods, but he will not pay cash. Figuratively speaking, the Canadian government has appealed to the munition makers to make munitions for the allies on time, but the unanimous answer has been, "Not me; the terms in war times are cash f. o. b. Toronto, Montreal, Halifax, etc." The same appeal has been made to the beef, bacon and flour barons, the ship builders, the mineral producers and all others engaged in supplying war material, but always there has been a curt refusal.

The farmers have taken the same stand—"we must get cash for our produce and the top-notch price. The farmer has come into his own for the first time in the history of Canada and we want to feel what it is like to have a big fat roll under our pillow and sleep and dream over it."

Now what the readers of the Pioneer are most interested in is the market for the productions of the soil. As the figures quoted above show the business of the farm is a

What Will Canada's Answer Be?

OVER in the sodden trenches amid the bursting shells and the roar of artillery where Canada's boys are fighting and dying.

—they are waiting for Canada's answer when the sale of Victory Bonds begins.

CANADA'S soldiers expect that we at home will put up the millions they need to keep on fighting.

—the millions they must have to win Victory for freedom, home and Canada.

What answer will Canada make?

What answer will you make?

Shall it be said that Canada spares not her sons from the sacrifice of battle, yet withholds her dollars to give them victory?

Rather will it be said that Canada once more, for the fourth time in three years, cheerfully puts up her millions upon millions for the cause of freedom, righteousness and justice.

Canada's answer must be,

—that the Canadian hand to the plow of Victory holds steadfast and firm.

—that Canada is in deadly earnest when she says the "last man and the last dollar."

That is the answer Canada will give to our boys in the trenches, our kinsmen in Britain, and our Allies everywhere.

That is the answer we will give to the Huns who thought and said that Canada would desert the Empire before she would fight or pay.

Every bond you buy is an answer to the Huns who thought and said that Canada would not give victory to ring around the world.

tremendous affair—it is the "biggest interest" there is in Canada. Hundreds of millions of dollars are required to finance it. The millers will probably finance the wheat and oat farmer to the extent of money enough to buy the grain required to manufacture 15,000,000 barrels of flour and oatmeal, the meat packers will finance for 300,000,000 pounds of meat, and the cheese and creamery butter to the value of $50,000,000 will be financed through their own associations. But the farmer still has a heavy financial burden to bear—the biggest part of his vast business must be financed by himself. The government has offered to co-operate with him and has presented a plan that ought to be endorsed by every farmer in Canada and by every man and woman depending upon the agricultural community for a living.

Canada's Victory Loan is the plan that has been adopted by the Canadian government and the farmers' part in the plan is to buy the bonds. It is a good business proposition. No one is asked to donate a dollar. There is nothing to pay for organization purposes. There are no overhead charges whatever for handling the financial end of your business. In addition to that every bond you buy will bear interest at the rate of 5 1/2 per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly.

Every farmer is asked to buy Victory Loan Bonds to the full extent of his ability. If he has money in the bank bearing three per cent. interest he can withdraw it and buy Victory Loan Bonds with it, and make it doubly serve his interest.

VICTORY LOAN

Official Circular to the U.

F.A. Urging the Members to Buy Bonds

A circular signed by H. W. Wood, President, and P. P. Woodbridge, secretary of the U. F. A., has been addressed to the farmers of Alberta dealing with Canada's Victory Loan. After showing the need for more money, and quoting Sir George E. Foster's statement of a little over a month ago in the House of Commons, that the government had decided to finance Great Britain's purchases in Canada of the products of the soil the circular goes on to say:

"All previous Canadian loans have been subscribed largely by a few wealthy subscribers. The time has come when the people must subscribe. This money is to be used largely to buy the products of our own farms at remunerative prices. By loaning, not giving, but loaning this money, we both furnish the sinews of war and keep open a market for our products, and thereby maintain our prosperity. Besides, it is building for the future. If we invest now while we have the money to spare we will receive it back, interest and principal, at a time when we may be sorely in need of it.

"The famous "Liberty Loan" of two billions of dollars floated in the United States was enthusiastically financed by an enormous number of people. It's a dandy."

Royal Visit to Canada, D.V.M.

... Royal Visit to Canada, D.V.M. ...
... The great results of the loan will not be realized till the repayment of that loan is shared in by all those classes and sections, and not all drawn to one class of people, or one section of the country.

"Let us be equally wise and equally zealous in supporting a popular loan in Canada. We want to come as near as possible to having at least one bond allotted to each man, woman, boy and girl in Alberta. The details of the plan of campaign will be fully explained to you later by those who have the work in hand. Each man, woman, boy and girl must do his or her share in this crisis. You cannot do it by idleness.

"Each dollar must do its duty. Dollars cannot do their duty in idleness. Do not hoard them. Do not spend them foolishly in riotous living. Send them out on a safe necessary enterprise in the service of both country and self by investing in this Victory Loan. Thus invested they will be bread cast upon the waters that will return to you, perhaps in a time of great need. The United States first 'Liberty Loan' was floated at 3 1/2 per cent. interest—Canada's Victory Loan will bear about 5 1/2 per cent.

the rate of interest on his investment will be almost doubled and he will help to organize his business on a co-operative plan—a method of doing business that has become highly successful and that is certain to become an essential principle in the economic life of the future.

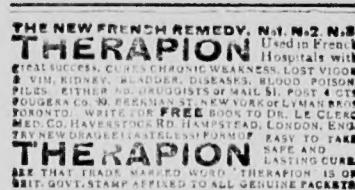

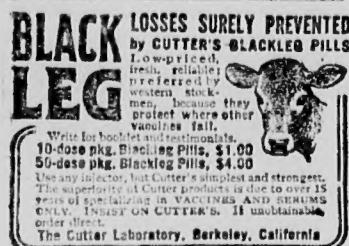

Again, we say, if you want prosperous conditions to continue throughout Canada you must buy Canada's Victory Loan Bonds.

Britain Increases
Army and Navy Pay

Advance in Pay Involves Sum of 50,000,000 Pounds for First Year

The British cabinet has increased the army and navy pay, although the increases are small compared with the American and Colonial standards. Proficiency pay at the rate of from three to six pence a day will be payable after six months' service, instead of two years, as under the present army rule. There is also an increase of a penny a day for each year of war service. The present compulsory deduction of six pence daily for privates and ten pence for sergeants is abolished.

The navy increase is about the same rate of pay, and the allowances to the army and navy now amount to 225,000,000 pounds yearly. The increases involve 50,000,000 pounds for the first year.

Uncle Sam's Soldiers

Origin of the Marks of Rank are Explained

The marks of rank on the clothing of American military officers are not the same as those used in the British army. An officer with General Pershing's force has explained their origin. The oak leaf, he says, is worn by a captain, and the poplar leaf by a major, because the poplar grows taller than the oak. The eagle signified a colonel, because the eagle soars over the poplar. The stars are for generals, because the eagle looks towards the stars which shine over all.

An officer's coat sleeve has brown bands round it, while the enlisted man has merely two rows of stitching. The overcoat of an officer is cuffless and has various braiding to denote rank, while the enlisted man's overcoat has a cuff. The officer also has two bone buttons on the back of his overcoat belt; the enlisted man two bronze buttons bearing the United States arms.—London Tit-Bits.

One dose of Miller's Worm Powder will clear the stomach and bowels of worms, so that the child will no more be troubled by their ravages. The powders are sweet to the taste and no child will object to taking them. They are non-injurious in their composition, and while in some cases they may cause vomiting, that must not be taken as a sign that they are nauseating, but as an indication of their effective work.

Calgary Rotarians Adopt Little Waif

The Calgary Rotary club has decided to adopt a waif, find a good home for him, supply a surgical operation and furnish a complete education until such time as the boy can earn his own living. Last spring a 14-year old boy tramped from a point west of Edmonton to Calgary, and was found in destitute circumstances at Saracée military camp. He was taken in charge by the Children's Aid society, where he has remained. He is one of a large family of children. The father is doing his bit in France, and the mother has deserted the family.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Ate Onions Like Apples

Lady Shackleton gives the interesting information that the members of her husband's expedition found the greatest benefit from eating raw onions like apples. The ironical title of "violets" conferred on them for an obvious reason, explains why onions are banned, but their nutritive and tonic value, particularly in cold conditions, is beyond question. In the Peninsula, laborers in the fields take with them a Spanish onion, which is the pick of the family, just as in this country they would be.

Minard's Liniment is a familiar sight every season in English streets.—From the London Globe.

Fresh Supplies in Demand.—Wherever Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil has been introduced increased supplies have been ordered showing that wherever it goes this excellent Oil impresses its power on the people. No matter in what latitude it may be found its potency is never impaired. It is put up in most portable shape in bottles and can be carried without fear of breaking.

Automobiles in Canada

Motorists continue to be a most vigorous actuality in Canada, according to figures given in the Toronto Star, an estimate of $50,000,000 being held as the worth of cars manufactured in this country this year. Those purchased in the same period are placed at 100,000, or five times the number acquired in 1914, or one to about 57 of the population. Canada thus occupies third place among the nations of the world in the use of automobiles—the United States coming first, with 3,000,000 for 110,000,000 people and Britain second with 276,000. This is certainly going some for a young country like ours, with its sparse population; but it must not be overlooked that no inconsiderable number are utilized for agricultural and industrial purposes, causing much economic saving in time and labor. Many users are not joyriders.—Hamilton Spectator.

Accidents to Aviators

Performing Complicated Evolutions Proved a Source of Danger

Accidents of course, are inevitable, and they may not be too frequent in proportion to the number of men who are now in the air every day. It is for the authorities to judge of that, just as it is for them to judge whether an undue number of these accidents can be attributed to avoidable causes. But we are bound to say that the increasing tendency of airmen in this country to perform complicated evolutions very close to the ground suggests to the lay observer that needless risks are being taken. Practice in tactics of this kind is an essential part of the training of the fighting pilot. Except for this purpose, however, and especially in the earlier stages of training, we should have thought them unnecessary and unjustifiably dangerous, however alluring they may be to the building pilot. If so, they should be prohibited at once.—London Times.

Salmon Uncertain

Canners say the outlook is serious in B.C. The only hope for the future is to suspend fishing on the Sound for at least four years to allow for the reproduction of sockeye. The Future of Germany

Will Suffer from an Economic and Social Boycott

Whether victorious or defeated, Germany is likely to suffer for many years from a social and economic boycott, not necessarily inspired by any government, but the voluntary act of thousands of individuals with whom the feeling of resentment will be keen and lasting. It is probable that it will be many years before any Frenchman or Briton will, without urgent necessity, have business relations with Germans. Travel between the countries will be paralyzed for few Frenchmen or Britons will enter Germany and still fewer Germans will be welcomed in France or Great Britain.

We hardly realize the intensity of feeling which the sufferings and barbarities of this war have brought about. The conclusion seems reasonable that the material prosperity of Germany will suffer immeasurably for years to come from this economic and social boycott, and it is unlikely that when it is further recognized that much of the resentment of the world would disappear if Germany were to transform its autocratic monarchy into a republic or limited monarchy by dethroning the Hohenzollern dynasty, that the business interests of Germany will find opportunity to suggest in no unmeaning way that, as Germany sacrificed itself for the prestige of the kaiser, the time has come when the kaiser could profitably sacrifice his crown for the benefit of the German people—Harpers.

No Compromise

There is no compromise. There is no method whereby civilization can be half shackled by a Germany half beaten. Either the shackles will be burst off or Germany will not be beaten. Nor can the struggle be postponed. It is here and now that the world must settle accounts with Germany for all time to come.—Washington Post.

Why the U.S. Is at War

We are fighting to save American husbands from being forced to dig graves for their wives. We are fighting to save American babies from your bayonets. We are fighting to save American women from the flames. Loyal and thinking Americans feel that if the ship-watch on the North sea slackens, and the weary guard from the Yser to Belfort is battered down, your cannon would point toward us and soon the trench line would be on the Hudson, the Delaware and the Chesapeake.—Detroit Journal.

A Medicine for Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Relieved the Sufferings of Women.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

Mrs. Kleso Cured After Seven Month's Illness.

Aurora, Ill.—"For seven long months I suffered from a female trouble, with severe pains in my back and sides until I became so weak I could hardly walk from chair to chair, and got so nervous I would jump at the slightest noise. I was entirely unfit to do my house work, I was giving up hope of ever being well, when my sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and today I am a healthy woman able to do my own housework. I wish every suffering woman would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and find out for herself how good it is."—MRS. KARL A. KLESO, 596 North Ave., Aurora, Ill.

Could Hardly Get Off Her Bed.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I want you to know the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was in such bad health from female troubles that I could hardly get off my bed. I had been doctoring for a long time and my mother said, 'I want you to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I did, and it has certainly made me a well woman. I am able to do my house work and am so happy as I never expected to go around the way I do again, and I want others to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—MRS. JOSIE CORNER, 1668 Harrison Ave., Fairmount, Cincinnati, Ohio.

These were subsequently assembled into the story as it now appears in dramatic form upon the stage and reduced to a total of approximately 200,000 distinct scenes. She said nothing, only stood with her head bent, looking downwards.

He went into the salle-a-manger; then came back to her again.

"You did quite right to take that bottle from me," he said. "There's no excuse for me, for the bottle never had much attraction for me. But I've been internally baffled and beaten of late."

Suddenly he took hold of the half-open door and leant his forehead against it with an air of weariness and defeat.

"Here am I, Kitty," he said; she trembled as he used the name, but apparently he had used it unconsciously, "here am I, only wanting to do the straight thing. I want to marry little Dolly, to go away somewhere where the past won't follow me and begin a new life. And here in this infernal country we can't get married. Anyone could have told me; any educated person. That's what comes of being ignorant. No matter how clever you are you never catch up on those who have the education. They won't marry us. I'm at my wit's ends. Dolly's not the sort to drag about the world unjoined. There've been times, when I wished I'd let Dolly right have if it hadn't been

He went back to the salle a manger, took the lamp and went out to the woodshed. An old shepherd's crook hung from a rafter. Beyond that there was nothing, absolutely nothing.

CHAPTER XXII.

The Flight

The days passed, tense with expectation, but nothing happened. Cooper went out now but seldom, and then only when dusk had fallen. He rarely appeared before midday, and after a meal he would go back to his own room, where he would lie on his bed half asleep till dusk came to set him free to wander a while.

The evidences of his drinking were in the pallor of his face, the nervous jerkiness of his speech, his moroseness and irritability, his bloodshot eyes and trembling hand.

Two women watched him in these days with a growing terror. Kate Bartlett would look up and be aware that Margot's eyes were also on Cooper. Each was estimating the point at which he would become dangerous.

Dolly was kept out of it. He made no attempt to see her. There were times when it would almost seem that he must have forgotten her. She kept to her room when he was about the house, docile as a child in Kate Bartlett's hands; and when she asked in tears when they were going to be set free, she was confronted by Kate's assurance that freedom would come today or else tomorrow.

Once Dolly appeared with a strange tale. She had fled to the granary from the courtyard at the sound of Cooper's voice in the house coming her way. While she was there she had heard voices, English voices, close by, passing beneath her. More, she had thought she recognized one of the voices for that of the Squire's young cousin, Hilary Strangways. So sure had she been that she had called out. Of course the people who passed had not heard her; they had gone too far; and if they had looked back they could not have discovered her peep-hole.

Kate Bartlett shooed her head over the recital. To her all English voices were alike. It was most improbable that Master Hilary would be in Andignac. The poor child's mind was full of the Squire, so, of course she would imagine things.

Dolly slept uneasily that night. At the slightest sound Kate Bartlett would awake and sit herself on her elbow to listen. Dolly cried and struggled and shrieked on her lover to save her from some deadly peril. The woman who was listening to her was cold with fear in the darkness, oppressed by a nameless sense of guilt towards the innocent child in her charge, and her benefactor, the Squire, who had trusted her, after saying her life.

The next day Cooper kept to his room all day. When Kate Bartlett brought in a tray with food he seemed to be asleep. There was a full bottle of brandy on the table beside him. She looked at it; advanced her hand towards it as though she would take it away; then shook her head, and, leaving the tray on the table, went out.

That same day Dolly made another discovery. Seeing something glittering on the floor—she could not have imagined how she had overlooked it before—in the alcove where the bed was, she picked the thing up. It was a wedding ring, on which someone had trodden, crushing it almost out of shape.

She was looking at it when Kate came into the room, and, coming to see what the girl was looking at so intently, stared as though it were the Gorgon's Head. To Dolly's amazement she snatched it from her and flung it through the open window; then put her arms about the girl and begged her darling Miss Dolly to forgive her; she did not know why she had done it; only that she had called out. Of course it seemed a strange, uncanny thing to find, and she could not bear to see it in her darling's hands.

Later in the afternoon, while Dolly was out of doors, she went quickly upstairs, and, having locked the door of the damask room behind her, she took a bunch of rusty keys and tried them one after another on the closet door of the dressing room which had been locked when they came and had remained locked. She tried many keys before one seemed to fit. After a struggle it turned in the lock, and the door came open.

As Instructed

A shoemaker in a Midland city, getting on well in the way of business, became proud. One day there were a lot of customers in the shop when the shop boy came in to say that the mistress bid him say dinner was ready.

"What's for dinner?" asked the shoemaker.

"Herrings, sir," answered the boy.

"All right," said the shoemaker, and when he went in to dinner he reprimanded the boy for not mentioning something decent and big, telling the boy in future always to mention a good feed when there were any people in the shop.

A few days after the boy came to say that dinner was ready.

"What's for dinner?" asked the shoemaker.

"Fish, sir," answered the boy.

"What sort of fish?"

"A whale, sir," replied the boy.

ASSAM Teas for Economy

Assam teas are the strongest and richest grown. It is of these teas that Red Rose Tea chiefly consists. That is why it yields the very large number of 250 cups to the pound—at the cost of about a cent for five cups, and every cup rich, strong, delicious tea.

THE PROPER WAY TO USE COPENHAGEN CHEWING TOBACCO

Copenhagen Chewing Tobacco is entirely different from the ordinary "plug" or "fine cut".

It is made of the best, old, rich, high flavored tobacco.

Being in small grains, it imparts its strength and flavor more freely and fully than tobacco in the usual form.

For this reason, Copenhagen is not chewed; but is placed in the mouth between the lower lip and the gum.

A small pinch is all that is necessary to thoroughly satisfy, and those who are using "Copenhagen" for the first time, should take care to use only a small pinch, otherwise "Copenhagen" will be thought to have too much tobacco strength.

"It's the most economical chew".

Get Behind the Wheel of a Ford and Drive

TRY it just once! Ask your friend to let you "pilot" his car on an open stretch. You'll like it, and will be surprised how easily the Ford is handled and driven.

If you have never felt the thrill of driving your own car, there is something good in store for you. It is vastly different from just riding - being a passenger. And especially so if you drive a Ford.

Young boys, girls, women and even grandfathers - thousands of them - are driving Ford cars and enjoying it. A Ford stops and starts in traffic with exceptional ease and smoothness, while on country roads and hills its strength and power show to advantage.

Buy a Ford and you will want to be behind "the wheel" constantly.

Buerzel-Nice

Wednesday, Oct. 31st, at Saskatoon, the Rev. Canon E. B. Smith united in marriage at St. John's church Miss Alice Elsie Nice and Mr. William Henry Buerzel, both of Saltburn, Sask. The attendants were Miss Emma Buerzel, of Davenport, Iowa, and Miss Mabel Wood, of Didsbury, Alta., and Mr. A. S. Daw, of Hamilton, Ont.

Revival services will commence on Sunday in the Evangelical church. The Sunday service will be at 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. There will be service every evening at 8 o'clock except Saturday.

Rosebud Items

The weather has moderated again - our snow all gone and threshing will soon all be done.

Arden Deadrick and Ivan Wilson visited Calgary recently to take the military medical examination.

Lizzie Fox is helping Mrs. Geo. Thawler with her fall work.

Bertie Shantz left for Alsask, Sask., a short time ago, where she expects to stay for some time.

Lucy Nilson helped Mrs. L. C. Ault cook for threshers last week.

Mr. Gochee has turned "hay buyer" as well as "hay baler." The hay business around Didsbury is well blessed with plenty of competition this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Coon Liesemer, of Neapolis visited his cousin, Mrs. Abe Meek and family, last Tuesday.

Charlie Deadrick had the misfortune to lose four head of good steers. It is feared they have been stolen.

Dave Irvin is one of our lucky farmers as he threshed several thousand bushels of good grain; and Lars Nelson's wheat went nearly 40 bushels to the acre.

Royal Hawaiian Quartet

The pure music of the Hawaiian Islands will be featured in the two concerts to be given on the closing day of the Chautauqua Festival by the Royal Hawaiian Quartet. The great demand for Hawaiian singers and players has led to the organization of many companies, but few of these have created the splendid impression made by the Royal Hawaiian Quartet. Were you to visit the Islands you would not hear a more faithful rendition of the best that kind of music has to offer, than you will hear when the Hawaiians come to the Festival on the last day with their rich Chautauqua program. The dates of the Chautauqua Festival in the Didsbury Opera House are Nov. 26, 27 and 28.

Rugby Notes

On Friday afternoon, Oct. 26th, the committee of the Soldiers' Comfort Fund, together with a number of ladies from the surrounding districts, met at the home of Mrs. T. Hosegood to pack Xmas parcels for the boys at the front. The packages all contained cakes and other goodies and without doubt will be thoroughly enjoyed by all those who receive them. Forty parcels were dispatched to their various destinations.

On Friday evening, Nov. 2nd, the Rugby Women's Institute held an entertainment and sale in aid of the Red Cross. There was a big crowd present and everyone must have been feeling in a generous mood, for the proceeds amounted to $202. As the expenses were very few, almost the entire sum will be passed over to the Red Cross secretary. The thanks of the committee are due to all those who so kindly helped in every way and most especially to Mr. G. Sexsmith for the splendid way in which he auctioned off the articles to be sold.

After the sale a bountiful lunch was served and then the floor was cleared and dancing was indulged in till a late hour. Mr. J. R. Moon after idling a part of the time for the dancers went home to sleep, but not for long; there being a west wind blowing, he smelt venison, and was away by daylight towards the mountains and was home the same night with two of the finest bull moose that have been killed in this district for some years. The two fell simultaneously to the crack of his rifle and that of his son Dan's.

MISCONCEPTIONS AS TO THE CAUSE AND AIMS OF THE WORLD WAR

UNITED STATES FIGHTING FOR SELF-PRESERVATION

Lord Northcliffe Says Many People are Deluded by Pro-German Propagandists Into Supposing That This is a Commercial War, But Points Out the Utter Fallacy of Such Reasoning

That the American people are not fighting to make the world safe for democracy, but to make it safe for themselves, is the opinion expressed by Lord Northcliffe, head of the British mission in the United States, in an article printed in the October issue of Current Opinion Magazine. The article, which is headed, "What America Is Fighting For," says:

"If this country had meant to take up arms in defense of British or French interests, or in the interest of Belgium, or in order to spread democracy, it would not have waited until April, 1917. If its aims had been commercial, it would have been in the war long ago. The motive which brought the United States in was not sympathy for any other nation, was not desire for gain, was not an abstract fondness for democratic as opposed to autocratic government; it was self-interest, self-preservation, and self-respect."

Lord Northcliffe says that the only way for America to make the world safe for herself is to make Prussia admit that her theory of a state which has no conscience, a state which can do no wrong, is out of date.

"The German people," he adds, "have been purposely included into the belief that they are defending themselves against foes who are set upon crushing them out of existence, a design which nobody but a lunatic would conceive or imagine possible of execution. Austria fancies that she went to war to defend herself against Russia, the truth being that she was used as a cat's-paw by the Hohenzollern gang. Bulgaria is still under the delusion that she will gain the reward promised her by Prussian Junkerdom for her treachery to her fellow Slavs.

"Even among the allies there exist misconceptions as to the causes and aims of the struggle. A number of English people still fancy that Britain could have kept out of the conflict if Belgium had not been invaded. These people are still unable to understand that Prussia's object in forcing war upon France and Russia was in order to clear them out of the way and be able to attack England, and, in course of time, the United States, with a good prospect of success later on.

"In Russia the pro-Prussian propagandists have infected many with the crazy notion that the new republic has no interests of its own to defend against Germany, and only remains in the war for the benefit of France and Britain. I have even heard French people speak as if their country took up arms for the purpose of regaining Alsace and Lorraine, whereas we know that France would never have brought upon the world the frightful calamity of war for selfish aims.

"Here in the United States, I am told, and I have discovered proof for myself, that there are people deluded by German and pro-German propagandists into supposing that this is a commercial war. It is not very easy to make out exactly what these people mean by that expression. So far as I can learn, they suppose that the cause of the war was commercial rivalry, and that the combatants are each seeking to obtain control of the world's markets."

Denying that the allies are at war for commercial reasons, Lord Northcliffe asks: "What would have been the good of Britain going to war with Germany in order to secure markets? As soon as 'she' had secured them, they would have been open to Germany as freely as to British trade. The German vice-chancellor, Dr. Helfrich, has asserted that Great Britain's object was 'the economic oppression of Germany.' How could Britain oppress any nation economically as long as she allowed the traders of all nations to compete with her own traders upon equal terms?"

"The peoples of the British empire did not want war. They had nothing to gain from war. They were threatened. They were attacked. Whether Prussia had invaded Belgium or not, Britain would have been obliged to fight in self-defense. It was not Brussels that the Germans wanted when 'for strategic reasons' they marched their troops across the Belgian frontier which they had signed a solemn contract to respect. They wanted Antwerp, which Napoleon called, with clear-sighted understanding, 'a pistol pointed at the heart of England.' They wanted an outlet for their ocean-going submarines. They wanted Calais.

"The delusion industriously sown in the United States by Germans and those who are in favor of Prussianism, including, I am sorry to say, many Irishmen, that Britain always fights for commercial advantages has long been a Prussian slander. Treitschke, the writer on whose teaching Kaiser Wilhelm II. was nurtured, taught that England's wars were always undertaken with a view to the conquest of markets. He did not explain why England should take so much trouble to conquer markets, seeing that she gave the whole world, including Germany, the benefit of access to them."

Northern Ontario

This new district will one day make one of the finest farming countries in Canada. Farmers are also getting well established in stock raising. Northern Ontario potatoes have become well known for their excellent qualities as seed. Potato growers in the new district of Ontario find very little trouble with insect enemies and the seed gives earlier and larger yields. Farmers are enthusiastic about the possibilities of this new northern country where 7,000 bushels of grain have been produced in a season.

Our Starving Allies

Position of Invaded Serbia Becomes More and More Serious

The following appeal for help and justice for the starving Serbian people appears in "La Serbie," a weekly paper published by Serbs in exile, and edited by Dr. Lazar Mirkovic, a professor of Belgrade university.

The position of invaded Serbia becomes more and more serious.

The population awaits help, which at present reaches it in an absolutely insufficient measure.

The reasons invoked by the allied governments against the sending of foodstuffs to Serbia do not preclude and ought not to preclude the sending of help which, while relieving the famished Serbian population, would in no way weaken the effects of the blockade.

The Swiss committee for Serbian relief provides a sufficient guarantee that the foodstuffs and other indispensable articles will be distributed among the Serbian population and that this distribution will in no way replace rations accorded by the invaders. As regards flour, in the first place there are in Serbia a great number of people who cannot get bread to eat oftener than once a week. Then there are things that are totally lacking, for example, milk, which if sent to Serbia could save the children who still remain alive from certain death. Clothing and shoes are no longer to be had in Serbia, or are so costly that the population is not in a position to obtain them.

To supply all this to the Serbs would in no way diminish the effects of the blockade, because the persons who would benefit would not cede their rations to the invader, for this simple reason that they are receiving nothing from the invader.

One sees, therefore, that military necessities and the exigencies of the most elementary humanity can be reconciled, and with a little more good-will one could arrive at satisfactory results.

It is the duty of the Serbian representatives to explain to our British and American allies that there is no question of any action in favor of the enemy but of the saving of the Serbian population, which is menaced by death from starvation.

We make appeal to the generosity so largely and so often displayed of the British, the French, and the Americans, to rescue our unhappy compatriots from an appalling situation. One may say the same thing of the Serbs interned and prisoners of war, whose fate is most tragic.

What Britain Did

Great Britain first of all upset the German plans for a quick and not costly military victory in Europe. Great Britain upset these plans by entering the war and by sea power alone reversed the conditions which Germany hoped would prevail. German, not French ports were blockaded. Germany, not France, was thrown back upon herself and forced to rely upon intensive interior development of materials and manufacture. France was saved by the British fleet and the Germans recognized it by hating the British in a ferocious ecstasy.—From the Chicago Tribune.

THE DISSOLUTION OF HUN POWER NECESSARY TO SAVE DEMOCRACY

FREE THE EAST AND SECURE A LASTING PEACE

Colonel Roosevelt Believes That the Only Peace Which Will Make the World Safe for Democracy Must Be Based on the Complete Overthrow of Germany, Austria and Turkey

A Thieves' Paradise

City of Berlin Now Given Over to Criminals

From a city of order, Berlin is beginning to become a city of disorder, as a lengthy and bitter report in the Berlin Tageblatt clearly shows. In the big railway sheds, where goods are received and distributed there is absolute chaos. An almost endless array of packages, trunks, parcels of all descriptions, are stored there in hopeless disorder; many have been stolen or lost. The public accuses the new officials of stealing them; the officials say that the thefts are due to dishonest cabdrivers and untrustworthy forwarding agents. The great Berlin forwarding agency declares that parcels of all descriptions are stolen by thieves while the conveyance are passing through the streets. The agency in all soberness makes the astounding statement that Berlin is full of thieves, convicted criminals who have been refused admission to the army, serving to make the streets thoroughly unsafe.

"Continually we hear rumors of peace," he said. "I think the circulation of such rumors is injurious to America and to the cause of decency and democracy. We should make it clearly understood that the conduct of Germany has been such that we regard as enemies of mankind all people who would strive to bring about a peace based upon treating Germany, Austria and Turkey on the one hand, and the allies on the other, as standing on a footing of equality. The only peace that will make the world safe for democracy is a peace based upon the complete overthrow of Germany and the dissolution of Austria and Turkey.

"Unless we have used the phrase in a hypocritical and insincere manner, this is the way to make the world safe for democracy, and the only way; and this means that the only peace we can accept is the peace of overwhelming victory. Turkey's conduct toward the Armenian and Syrian Christians has been such as to make it evident that the Turk must not only be driven out of Europe, but his empire destroyed. Give Armenia freedom, give Armenia freedom. Establish a free city at Constantinople and keep the straits absolutely open for the Russians and for everyone else."

"Make a great independent Poland and probably a great independent Finland, too. Give the Lithuanians at least autonomy; make an independent Czech Commonwealth to include the Bohemians, Moravians and Slovaks. Make a Jugo-Slav Commonwealth to include on a footing of entire equality Croats, Serbians and Slovaks, whether Orthodox, Catholic or Mohammedans. Restore Italian Austria to Italy, and Roumania Hungary to Roumania."

"As for Belgium, she is not only entitled to restoration, but to the heaviest kind of indemnity. Let France have Alsace-Lorraine; let Poland include the whole Baltic coast to which she is entitled. Let the British and the Japanese keep the colonies they have won."

The Pilot's Heart

A Pride That Only a Pilot Can Know

"The romance of the air," writes an aviator of some experience, "is a different thing from mascots and superstitions. It is not bound up in the machines. It is something deep down in its own grim and callous self. Those who know it best acknowledge it least. And the pilots themselves—do they speak of a 'lucky' or an 'unlucky' pilot? Never. They speak only of a 'good' pilot or a 'bad' one. The only time a man is told he is lucky is when he has failed to break his neck despite bad piloting. Flying is a cruel mistress. Only a pilot knows what she does to a pilot's heart. Where are the young pilots? At the aerodromes learning to fly. They are nowhere else. But bound up in the romance there is a pride that only a pilot can know. It is the pride of the self-dependent."

Lots of people take offense when there is none in sight.

The less a woman has to complain about the more she complains.

A revision upwards of electric light rates to consumers looks to be about due, according to returns to the Town Secretary's office. The Council has been trying to keep electric light rates on the same basis as before the war in spite of the steady advance in cost of fuel, labor and repairs, but it appears that this cannot be done any longer because of the big increase in cost of production. The operating charges, such as salaries, fuel, oils, etc., it is figured roughly, have increased $1200 per year over the charges of a year or two ago, coal alone costing $800 a year more. No doubt light users will feel that the extra levy, if it is put on, will be a further burden, but it should be considered that they are getting the light at absolute cost and also that if their plant was in the hands of a private company they would have no compunction in raising the prices to where they would make a profit. It is also doubtful if the public would be contented to go back to the days of the coal oil lamp and its dangers and dirt, consequently there is only one way for the Council and that is to increase the rates.

Employees Safeguarded

Penalties for Employers Who Make Exemption Claims Conditional

Ottawa, Oct.—Amongst the penalties provided for infractions of the Military Service Act is a very necessary and useful instrument designed to guard employees from employers who make a reduction of wages or some such alteration in working conditions as a condition for applying for the exemption of a man or men in their employ. Any employer guilty of such conduct is liable to a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for six months.

The honorable course for employers to follow under the Act is to apply for exemption faithfully and loyally for the men whose work is essential to the success of their business and who cannot be replaced, or who have special qualifications not to be duplicated, and not to make the application for any indirect or improper purpose, whatsoever. Exemption Tribunals will not be deceived, and the system will provide fairness for all, sooner or later.

ALBERTA'S GREATEST DAILYYour Market

MANY a farmer has been bunched into selling his stock and produce at a ridiculous figure following the blue-ruin stories of the speculative buyer or his agent. The farmer was NOT in touch with the market; the speculator WAS.

The world's market is the farmer's market. Keep in touch with it. The Herald's market reports are not only good—they are the best obtainable, and include special and exclusive features such as Poole's X-ray and forecast on the world's livestock situation. Poole is nothing short of a genius and is accepted as an authority the world over. Our Boston Letter on the wool markets is up-to-the-minute and covers all colonial and foreign markets. It is the only one published in Western Canada. The Herald's expert survey of local grain and livestock markets is drawn from actual contact with buyers and sellers and our special reports covering every commodity that the farmer sells or purchases are compiled from accurate and reliable data.

SPECIAL TRIAL SUBSCRIPTION OFFER
4 MTHS. $1

The regular subscription price to The Herald is $4.00 a year by mail, but if you cut out this advertisement and send it with your name, P.O. address and ONE DOLLAR ($1.00) to the circulation manager of The Herald, Calgary, you will receive The Herald daily for four months.

The Military Service Act, 1917

DON'T DELAY!
Do It TODAY

THE MILITARY SERVICE ACT is passed; the Proclamation issued October 13th. It is now the bounden duty of every man in Class One to report for service or claim exemption. This includes all bachelors and widowers without children (not otherwise excepted) who were 20 years old on the 13th October, 1917, and whose 34th birthday did not occur before January 1st, 1917.

What To Do

Go to your Post Office and ask for the form for reporting for service or for claiming exemption. The form contains clear instructions for filling in. Do this not later than NOVEMBER 10th.

Beware of the Last Minute Rush

With so many thousands of reports and claims to be dealt with, the rush of Class One Men will grow heavier day by day. You will waste less of your time and serve your own best interests if you avoid the inevitable rush on the last days.

The law is being enforced with the Government and the People firmly behind it. Obey the law. Do it today.

EXEMPTION TRIBUNALS

MILITARY SERVICE ACT 1917

For the Attention of Class One Men

The location of The Exemption Tribunals in this district is as follows:

TRIBUNAL ALTA. No. 35, DIDSBURY Boy Scouts Room, Jackson Block, Osler-St

These Tribunals will commence to deal with claims for exemption on November 8th.

All claims for exemption must be made not later than November 10th.

Those who make or have made their claim for exemption in writing through the Post Office will receive notice by registered letter of date on which their claim will be dealt with.

Those who neglect to make use of the Post Office must present themselves in person at a Tribunal on November 8th, 9th or 10th, and they will then be informed as to when their claims will be dealt with.

Reports for service must be made on or before November 10th through the Post Office.

Severe penalties are provided by law for failure to report for service or claim exemption as above.

AROUND THE TOWN

The boys enjoyed Hallowe'en in the same old mischievous way.

S. A. Martin, of Drumheller, paid a visit to his brother Lou last week.

Joe McCann, of Sweet Grass, Mont., an auto expert, is engaged with Stevens Service Shop.

We have been asked how it feels to be rejuvenated? Too hard—ask the town constable.

R. C. Esson, of Edmonton, on the way to his old home in Ontario, stopped off at Didsbury for a visit.

If you want private Christmas cards, call and see samples at the Pioneer office. We have some exquisite creations.

The revival services held in the M. B. C. church are over, after two weeks of interesting meetings. Rev. E. DeWeerd tied a knot in the devil's tail that he won't get out in a hurry.

The residences of W. G. Liesemer and A. G. Studer have been under the charge of G. A. May, of Calgary, for the past month or more and a good job of painting and paper hanging has just been finished.

Members of St. Hilda's chapter of the Eastern Star have decided to meet in the Red Cross rooms next Tuesday evening for the purpose of doing Red Cross sewing. All members are requested to be present and Masons and their wives are also invited. Lunch will be served.

A grand dance will be held in the Didsbury opera house on Wednesday, Oct. 14th. Dancing will commence at 9 o'clock sharp. All the latest music will be played by F. Henderson and Wm. Farrington. This will be Mr. Henderson's last dance. $1.00 a couple. Refreshments will be provided.

Red Cross Fund

Mrs. A. G. Studer, secretary-treasurer of the Didsbury Branch of the Red Cross Society, acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following donations to the funds of the Society:

Mr. and Mrs. G. Neufeld..... $ 5.00

Rugby Women's Institute..... 200.00

Alex. Robertson, of Westcott, is putting up a big barn.

W. R. Coates is putting the finishing touches on his new barn.

Miss Gertrude Fortune, of Calgary, spent the week end in town.

A. A. Fenwick and P. Johnson, of Berlin district, are putting up additions to their farm buildings.

Rev. L. H. Wagner, superintendent of Evangelical missions, paid a visit to Rev. Mr. Amaker last week.

Jack Evans has returned from Olds with a million or two to float an invention which will revolutionize the market in ---- halt.

Quite a lot of lumber has gone out this month for granaries, repairs, etc., so we are informed by T. Thompson, of the Atlas Lumber Co.

Mrs. G. J. Doherty, of Gull Lake, was the guest of her uncle, Mr. Geo. Madden, of the Rosebud last week. She returned home Saturday.

Mrs. J. P. Greenburg, mother of Mrs. Malmas, and Miss Laura Dugger, of Wetaskiwin, spent a week visiting Dr. and Mrs. Malmas. They returned home on Saturday.

Rev. H. D. Marr, of the Canadian Bible Society, paid a visit to Didsbury last week. He will deliver an illustrated lecture here in the near future on the work of the Society.

We still find overdue subscriptions on our books. Are you one? Remember the H. C. L. hits the news paper man as well as everybody else. We need the money.

Have you seen our fine samples of Christmas cards? Come in and see them. Your name and address with special greeting printed on them to your order at the cost of the cards. Now is the time to come in and order them.

D. M. Sinclair has received particulars concerning the death of his brother Jim. He was hit with shrapnel, which shattered his arm, broke his leg and tore a hole through his back. The lieutenant of the company was struck with the same shell and is now in hospital in England.

Get the habit, but be careful what habit you get, because it is hard to shake off. Alex Guy's team got the habit of running away and now it would sooner run away than eat. It created some excitement again last Saturday. A good habit to get is reading the Pioneer.
